ABOUT THE BOHEMIAN NATIONAL HALL

For more than a century, the Bohemian National Hall has been a cultural, educational, athletic and social center for Czech and Slovak immigrants. This grand building was commissioned by the Bohemian Benevolent and Literary Association (BBLA), designed in the Renaissance revival style by architect William C. Frohne and constructed between 1895 and 1897.

In 1994, the building was designated a New York City landmark by the Landmarks Preservation Commission. In 2001, the BBLA transferred ownership of the Bohemian National Hall to the Czech Government for a symbolic one dollar. The Czech Government agreed to completely renovate and restore the interior of the building. The building was re-opened in October 2008 and functions as a lively multi-purpose center.

The Bohemian National Hall, open to the public, provides five different venues where events can be held: Cinema, Multifunctional Room, Grand Ballroom, Ballroom Balcony with a connecting VIP Conference Room and Rooftop Terrace.

“...step inside [Bohemian National Hall] for a postmodern surprise: a sleek white-on-white lobby emblazoned with catchphrases and quotes, multimedia screen projections, and a glassed-in art gallery.”

CINEMA

The Cinema has a seating capacity for 60 people. The interior consists of luxurious red leather seating and state of the art technology. This space can be used for private movie screenings, lectures and corporate meetings.

MULTIFUNCTIONAL ROOM & LIBRARY

The Multifunctional Room has a capacity for 180 people. This floor also has a library/meeting space with a capacity for 74 people. There is a kitchenette connecting the two rooms which is ideal for catered events. Both spaces are equipped with state of the art audio/visual equipment. This space is ideal for corporate meetings, seminars, presentations, catered receptions and art exhibitions.

LIBRARY

The Library/Meeting room with beautiful shelving is located on the third floor. It has a capacity of 74 people.

GRAND BALLROOM

The Grand Ballroom is a true gem for midsize events on the Upper East Side. It can accommodate up to 300 people. The Ballroom has been reconstructed to replicate the original design of this space, including a stage. It can be utilized for a variety of events such as concerts, fashion shows, corporate meetings, gala receptions as well as formal private events.

The Ballroom is A/V equipped, contains a spacious kitchen and a bar and can be divided into smaller areas using movable partitions to accommodate special events requirements..
